Why is the sky blue - science.answers.com The Sky Is A Light Shade Of Sky Blue Why is the sky blue? A clear cloudless day-time sky is blue because molecules in the air scatter blue light from the sun more than they scatter red light. When we look towards the sun at sunset, we see red and orange colours because the blue light has been scattered out and away from the line of sight. The white light from the sun is a mixture of all colours of the rainbow. Why is the sky blue? :: NASA Space Place Why is the sky blue? It's easy to see that the sky is blue. Have you ever wondered why? A lot of other smart people have, too. And it took a long time to figure it out! The light from the sun looks white. But it is really made up of all the colors of the rainbow. When white light shines through a prism, the light is separated into all its colors.
